Learning from home- How will it work?

26 March

Dear parents and carers

While school is closed, children should continue learning from home using the wide range of resources available on our school website. We have divided the resources into pupil year groups and matched the resources to that year group.

We have a team of teachers in place who will be updating these resources regularly. There is plenty there to keep children very busy and working hard.

We have deliberately set up a simple, flexible system on our website that is easy for you to use at home. We know you will be busy working from home, looking after siblings or other members of your family.

We suggest setting up a routine for your children where they do one or two learning activities each day as well as some reading every day.

The spread of the Coronavirus is an unprecedented emergency affecting the whole world.

The government is clear that school will not be providing the same experience of teaching and learning as when pupils are at school. Our teachers will not be providing personalised video lessons for pupils or individual feedback on children's work.

Many of our staff who are well enough to work will be running childcare for the children of parents, such as NHS workers and police, whose work is critical in fighting the Coronavirus. Other staff will be looking after themselves and their families if they fall ill.

We are looking forward to hearing all about what children have learned while they have been at home. When the time comes to open again, they can bring in any work, projects and pictures to show us – we would love to see!

Best wishes
